Four terms are critical for understanding the discussion in this section. Because they are not standard terms, they are defined below: 1. A Focal Area is a category of problems or issues related to change. It is part of a systematic scheme for organizing knowledge. It is subdivided into several Focal Topics. 2. A Nugget is a chunk (discrete, focused unit) of knowledge expressing a leaders perspective on a problem or issue. It is a piece of an interview transcript selected edited to meet criteria for unity, stand-alone character, etc. 3. A Principle is a generalized truth about leading units during transition. It provides a basis for organizing solutions to change management problems. 4. A Rule is a how-to guideline for handling change-related problems. It is a form of practical advice offered for consideration. It is specific to an operational context. Appendix A presents the final list of Focal Areas and Topics. Appendix B contains the protocols used to conduct the interviews. Appendix C lists the Principles with descriptors. Appendix F provides sample Nuggets and Rules to illustrate the knowledge analysis products. In the course of the project, the team captured its lessons regarding knowledge elicitation and analysis. The remainder of this section discusses the integrated insights and themes, along with methodological points that may be of value to future teams. The following subsections organize the discussion: Understanding what others needEliciting knowledgeSorting knowledgeTranslating knowledge for useProtecting the innocent Understanding What Others Need The emphasis on tacit knowledge was a cornerstone from the start. The team felt strongly...
